

Supplementary Figure 3 Comparative analysis of the respiratory systems in various microorganisms by the presence of key respiratory proteins. Red rectangles represent the presence of the genes in the genome, while black rectangles represent the absence of genes. The genome information is based on the COG database.